Private schools are unique providers of education. They are regularly confronted with a diverse range of demanding and controversial issues. By taking simple proactive steps, private schools can avoid legal problems or at least minimize their severity.

This half-day multidisciplinary seminar provides a pragmatic application of the law designed especially for private schools.

Topics for the seminar will include the following:

- student suspensions and expulsions
- personal and corporate liability
- reporting obligations
- internal investigations
- privacy requirements
- income tax deductibility for tuition
- dealing with police, Crown Attorneys and defence counsel
- working with your board of directors
- parents who harass
- school policies and the law
- duty of care

Shibley Righton LLP (www.shibleyrighton.com) is recognized as the leading education law firm in Ontario. Speakers will include pre-eminent lawyers in the field of education such as John P. Bell, Alan Wolfish Q.C. (formerly Director of Legal Services for the Ministry of Education) and others. Education consultant, Gary Diamond, a former Provincial School Attendance Counsellor and Co-ordinator of Private Schools, will also speak.
